

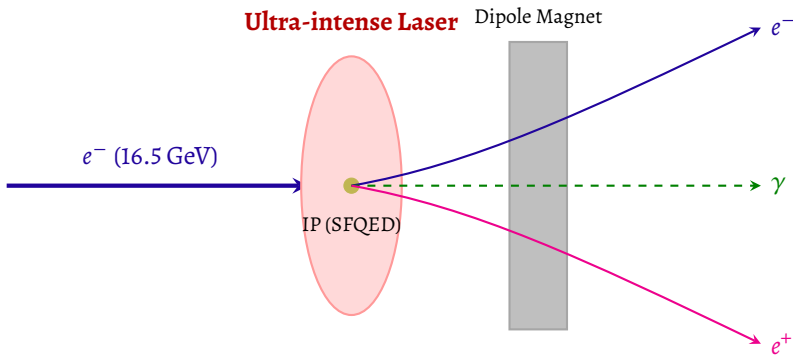

Figure 4 – Scheme of the LUXE experiment: collision between 16.5 GeV electrons and an ultra-intense laser at the interaction point (IP). After the interaction, a dipole magnet separates the products — scattered electrons (e^-), photons (γ), and positrons (e^+) — allowing their independent detection.

