

Figure 1 – The treasure map as an epistemological metaphor: the “X” does not indicate a ready-made object, but the point where descriptive cartography ends and the method of exploration begins.

